

Volunteering

How do I become a foster volunteer for PUGS?

After you complete a volunteer application (quickest response from <http://volunteer.pugsugottasave.org>), you will be contacted by one of our volunteers to discuss your interest in fostering. That is a good time to discuss any detailed questions you may have. After being contacted (via phone, email, meeting in neutral location, etc...), you will have a home visit with one of our volunteers to explore your home environment to determine what kinds of foster pugs would work best in your home. Once you are approved to foster, you will be contacted when a pug that fits your home dynamic comes into the rescue. Whenever possible, we try to find the closest available foster parent to wherever the pug being surrendered is located but the rule of best fit between pug and foster home is the most important consideration.
